

Greg Henhawk - Indigenous Leadership/Coaching Consultant / Master Learning Facilitator

Greg Henhawk is a Mohawk of the Bear Clan from Six Nations of the Grand River FN in Southern Ontario. Retired Secondary School teacher of 32 years, he instructed Physical Education and Science and served as the Department Head of Physical Education. His final 7 years of teaching were spent on Six Nations in the “Alternative Education program: School Within a College”. A program that assisted “at-risk young adults” with completing their high school diploma and at the same time earning College credits towards a career. Greg led the adaptation of the program for Indigenous students.

Greg is presently a consultant for Leadership/Coaching Training; Indigenous Cultural Awareness and Reconciliation. He is a Lead Mentor for the Sport for Life Project: “Indigenous Physical Literacy in Nunavut and Nunavik”. He is a member of the Canada Basketball Advisory Group for Unified 2024.

Greg is a graduate of the National Coaching Institute-Ontario (Basketball) and is a Master Learning Facilitator for the Aboriginal Coaching Modules (ACM) and Sport for Life; Master Coach Developer for Basketball Canada and Multisport NCCP programming. Greg is a past winner of the Coaching Association of Canada – IG Wealth Management: National NCCP Coach Developer Award - 2018

Greg was a member of the Project Advisory Group (PAG) which oversaw the development of the Aboriginal Coaching Modules: Reference Material, Workbook and Course. He was a Founding Board Member for the Coaches Association of Ontario (CAO).